On a Cold Trail.

The Examiner has the following sensible and timely rebuke:
Hon. Wm. M. Gwin went East some days ago, as any private citizen has a perfect right to do, and he prosecuted his journey in a manner and under circumstances agreeable to himself, which any private citizen has also a perfect right to do. This fact was stated in the columns of a city cotemporary with somewhat of unnecessary conspicuity, accompanied with some unwarrantable innuendoes. The Radical press of the interior have caught the cue, and are seeking to surround the movements of Dr. Gwin with an atmosphere charged with railroad electricity dangerous to any future political aspirations he might have, and calculated to injure the party with which he has been so prominently identified for a life-time. This is wasted labor on the part of these Radical sheets. If their conductors were no more worried about the ex-Senator than he is about them and their discouraging, they would sleep well of nights. The trail the Radical pack are pursuing is a very cold one.

THE DAILY AND WEEKLY HERALD has more than double the circulation of any other paper published in Southern California. Business men recognize it accordingly as the best advertising medium South of San Francisco.

TUESDAY, NOV. 9, 1875.

NEWS OF THE MORNING.

The steamer Pacific is reported lost near Cape Flattery, with only one survivor of the catastrophe.

The Republicans have at last carried Wisconsin by 1,200 majority. All the returns are now in.

Henry Jacobs has been sentenced to be hanged at Joliet, Illinois, on January 21st. The scene at his sentence is described as heartrending, Jacobs protesting his innocence to the last.

A heavy shock of earthquake was felt at Hollister and other points on Sunday morning.

A well at Leeds, Maine, was discovered to be poisoned with arsenic, fortunately before any of the water had been used.

A disastrous fire took place yesterday morning at No. 411, Broadway, New York. The loss will be heavy.

District Attorney Dyer, of St. Louis, denies that any indictment has been found against Gen. Babcock or Dr. Williams.

The body of Joseph Dilling, of Red Bluff, was found yesterday morning on the bank of the Sacramento river, three miles above Red Bluff.

B. F. Sherwood, a well known stock broker of San Francisco, died at 5 o'clock on Sunday evening.

A disastrous fire broke out in Whitehall, New York, yesterday. Assistance has been sent from Rutland, Vermont.

The Canadian steamer Francis Smith narrowly escaped foundering in Lake Superior during the storms of October 30th and 31st. Cattle and hogs were thrown overboard and the passengers and crew were without food for two days.

A number of hares have been expelled from the Naval Academy. The colored cadet, Henry E. Baker, Jr., of Mississippi, has been dismissed.

Times are a little hard over East. Fifteen thousand houses are advertised to be sold for taxes in New York and Brooklyn.

The fact that a man has been convicted of assaulting his wife in San Francisco is considered by the journals of that city as an important news item.

It is reported that FRANK PIXLEY and PETROLEUM V. NASBY are about to start a comic every day journal in San Francisco. This will be rough on the Post and Bulletin.

A Georgia Judge recently instructed a jury that an officer who shoots a man he is trying to arrest for a petty offense is guilty of murder. Such law in San Francisco would rapidly decrease the police force.

As an evidence that too much may be expected even from water it may be stated that although San Francisco uses over ten million gallons of Spring Valley liquid per day, her people are not remarkable for sobriety and cleanliness.

SOME of the Democratic papers say the Republican victories in the East this year indicate a Democratic victory next year. There is not much logic in this, but if there were would it mean that California will go Republican next year?

SPEAKING of a certain vineyard the Los Angeles Herald says that "frost is unknown" and that "the grape crop this year was not materially injured by the frost." How can we do that these two statements together, so that they will not conflict?—Sacramento Herald.

As we are not aware of the existence of any very extensive vineyards in the "Northern valleys" we never were under the impression addressed to us by the Appeal. Boys cannot skate among vineyards where there are none, even though ice is ever so plenty.

For some days and nights past the Chinese residents of this city have been holding their annual religious ceremonies. Their temple, its Josses, devil and other paraphernalia, is a curiosity to the white people, and the building has been crowded with the curious and inquisitive. They were afforded every facility for seeing, and their million of questions, so far as in the power of the Mongolians, respectfully answered. Noticing these things it occurred to us that these pagan worshippers displayed a degree of courtesy to their visitors that would not be accorded to them did they crowd a Christian church. The heathen pegs one on the believers in "the purest and best system of religion the world has ever had."

AFTER the ashes were cold some one found out that a woman had predicted that Virginia City would be swept by fire. There was nothing remarkable about this. There are always plenty of people to cry out "I told you so" after the thing has happened. But on the strength of having guessed right once this Virginia seeress now predicts that Mount Davidson and surroundings will soon be tossed like feathers by an earthquake. The result of her guess is that many people are alarmed, and not a few are seeking other localities. This is the sheenest of nonsense. The whole world may melt away next week, and the last trump may sound before the smoke has cleared away; but neither event is more likely to transpire because a crazy woman predicted something of the sort.

A Need of the State.

There are rumors that a new newspaper is about to be started in San Francisco and the established journals of that city are assuring their readers that the journalistic field is already fully occupied and there is no room for the new enterprise. This advice gratuitous is not altogether disinterested. If it is meant that there is no room for another journal of like ilk with those already in existence there we fully concur. Still we think there is room for an able, fair and honest newspaper in San Francisco. The field for such a journal is uninhabited or at least so sparsely settled as to afford every accommodation to an energetic, conscientious new comer.

There are two causes which preclude the possibility of the new existing newspapers of San Francisco ever becoming such journals as the people require and will ultimately have. The first is that almost without exception they are greatly influenced if not controlled by rings and cliques who use their columns for the advancement of their own schemes to the injury of the general interest. Their very existence depends on the patronage and support of these combinations and hence they cannot deviate from the line of policy marked out for them by these schemers. The second is that the owners and managers of these journals have become so imbued with the notion that San Francisco comprises the whole Pacific Coast that they cannot do justice to an enterprise located outside of the city limits. The writers on those papers are as a class grossly ignorant of even the topography of the State and its vast mineral and agricultural resources are to them a sealed book. San Francisco is a large city—the metropolis of the State—and she should publish a newspaper of broad comprehensive ideas—a journal that regarded the whole Pacific Coast as its field; that held itself aloof from corporate influence; that pandered to no clique or ring and that advocated only such measures as it believed would advance the best interests of the whole State. For such a newspaper there is a broad unoccupied field in San Francisco. If the new journal is to be conducted by men who know the country as well as the city—and will keep themselves free from all entangling alliances it will succeed and become the friend and advocate of the whole people.

Stirring It Up Again.

When it was announced that all the BECHER-TILTON-MOULTON cases had been quashed, the respectable portion of the community drew a long breath and mentally thanked God that they were spared a repetition of the bathos, scandal and false swearing that had filled the columns of the newspapers for over one hundred days during the first trial. That the farce had reached a final end was a consummation devoutly to be wished, and when the telegraph flashed the information that all suits were off there were congratulations and rejoicing. But, alas, neither man nor woman can tell when or what will be ending of a libel suit in which the basis is the alleged criminal intercourse of a pastor and one of the lambs of his flock and scandal is the fuel that feeds the flame. The thing hangs and drags with even more pertinacity and continuity than a poor man's right in the law. An association of ministers have taken up what the law dropped, and after expressing themselves dissatisfied with the investigation these gentlemen of the cloth with a long pole begin to stir the unsavory mass. There is a prospect that the whole of the dirty programme will be gone through with again. We are not surprised that these ministers regard Mr. BECHER's position as equivocal, and it is not improbable that the object of the clerical star chamber is to make him more presentable to the unprejudiced world. The only question is, can they do it? It does not seem an easy task. There is a limit to human power, and the time when a man could believe as he wished—could warp judgment to prejudice or inclination—has gone by, never to return until the era of free schools and universal education has passed away. Now we must accept as fact what the law and evidence establish. The ministerial club are undertaking an impossibility. All the whitewash in the world will not delect the stains in BECHER's social and moral robe, and all the perfumes of Arabia cannot sweeten his clerical reputation. When a court of justice cannot vindicate a man the public will refuse to accept a character fixed up for him by his personal and professional friends. It is to be hoped the ministers will think long and well before they re-open a case which emits an offensive effluvia every time it is touched.

THE Sacramento Herald throws the following brick at a journal that has more gab and less sense than any other paper published on the Pacific Coast: That idiotic paper, the San Francisco Post, thinks that a dealer in mines may rightfully accumulate property worth millions, but a dealer in farm property is a thief as soon as he accumulates more than a hundred thousand dollars.

It is rumored that W. C. Brown, of Sacramento, will be appointed by Governor Irwin as Harbor Commissioner. It is understood that Judge Penni, of San Francisco, is also a candidate for the same office. The names of ex-Sheriff White, Supervisor Menzies, James O'Neill and Tom Wand are also mentioned in the same connection.

LETTER FROM RIVERSIDE.

A Change in the Weather—A Heavy Rain—New Buildings—Dr. Shugart—New Residences—A Daily Mail.

EDITOR HERALD:—For a change we have had a slight North wind, and we have been thankful to give up a little of our own atmosphere, healthy though it is, for the purer mountain air. Is not this quite an admission for a Riverside? When our Western breezes begin to decline about September and October, our midday heat is quite enervating for a few days, until the cool bracing north wind, shorn of its rigidity by its Western flight, comes to remind us of what is going on in our distant Eastern homes. It is remarkable how quickly persons from the cold North-east forget the rigors of Winter, the heat and drought of Summer, the lateness of the Spring and chilliness of Autumn. When the northerly come, eyes are turned northward for relief. When the warm weather is here, again we look Northward, as though the climate we have left because we could not live comfortably in it had undergone a radical change. The objectionable features of Southern California as a perpetual residence are fewer and more insignificant than in many other places in the known world. Thus persons who have lived in many parts of the world express themselves.

A HEAVY RAIN.

Riverside was favored last night with some copious showers, and our verdure is again washed clean and attractive. The soil is moistened from two to six inches.

House building is progressing with us—large adobe and small wooden structures. Roomy residences of wood and smaller ones of adobe are putting in an appearance in our town and country, all being built with an eye to comfort more than architecture; and a stranger coming here cannot truly call our houses monotonous, as they show an originality of design and individuality of taste which is really refreshing to behold, after seeing in other places one dwelling so much like the next that instances are upon record of persons entering the wrong house, seeing the same architecture, carpets and furniture in the hall, and not discovering their mistake until confronted by a strange face on attempting to enter a room a fac simile of their own; and if our designs in house building are not what our architects would call elegant in appearance and proportion, we can say who said they were not.

By point to something better—the growth and beauty of our trees and shrubs. We cannot make our houses outside or inside so attractive as to eclipse our health-giving climate and beauty-giving soil. All of us know people who have put in a house and more money than they were worth, thus making an elegant pain in the side when the mortgage payments become due. Here, as our climate does not demand an inside life light months in the year, we prefer—if we cannot both—to adorn and make profitable our grounds and lands, for they become our actual residence, as the days are few through the year when we cannot be engaged in outside labor and enjoyment; and people from the East, from their winter castles and stately homes, look disappointed at their "castles in the air," high above our dwellings, and until they know us better, place us, in culture and taste, with the same class of people East who occupy similar abodes.

PRIVATE DWELLINGS.

Dr. Shugart, one of the Riverside pioneers, and Mr. White, our Notary Public, are building a nice roomy residence in the center of their young orange grove just North-east from town, and Northward from this edifice Mr. McDowell and his son are building a comfortable Eastern house. In fact, C. C. Miller, Esq., is finishing up a spacious abode for a family residence; Lyon & Rosenthal's brick store is fast approaching that desirable stage of completion to which all who build look as the ultima thule of their lives; other buildings are being improved and enlarged; new ones are being projected, and soon our Riverside will be too thickly settled for those pioneers who aim to be in advance of civilization, and we ought to expect shortly to witness our oldest inhabitants—sad though the sound may be—starting for newer fields upon which to leave their impress and influence.

We are rejoicing in a daily mail, and duly congratulate the outside world—who are not in the Riverside ring—that they can now have the privilege of daily communication with us. Truly yours,

G. W. GARGELON.

Riverside, November 8, 1875.

San Bernardino Items.

[From the Argus Nov. 8th.] The Colton well is progressing finely, and last night they were down two hundred and thirty-seven feet.

The top of "Old Bailey" was covered with snow yesterday morning, affording a beautiful sight.

The third of November and just after a rain storm and little boys padding around in mud puddles in their bare feet. That's the kind of a climate we are.

Pomona, six miles this side of Spadra, is fast becoming a thriving settlement. Houses are going up, and business is springing up. An immense quantity of grain will be sown there this Fall.

Our County officials were very busy yesterday fixing up their new quarters in the new Court House. Some of them talk of Brussels carpets, fine chandeliers, and French plate mirrors.

We find the following notice of Mr. C. V. Hall in the Alta:

C. V. Hall, who has visited many Eastern towns and cities, and lectured on Southern California, exhibiting a panorama of noted places and objects in that section, has just returned, having been called back suddenly by urgent private business. During his Eastern tour he distributed many papers and pamphlets relating to California, and reports that his efforts aroused much interest in this State. He will return to the East during the Centennial and continue his work, if some aid is extended him.

"Say!" said the city youth to the modest countryman, "got the hay seed out of your hair yet?" "Well," was the deliberate reply, "I judge not, from the way the calves run after me."

PACIFIC COAST.

For Los Angeles.

CALIENTE, Nov. 8.—The following passengers for Los Angeles left on the Telegraph Stage Line to-day: Mr. J. S. Coburn, Harry Haden, C. A. Warren, James Stewart, J. Stewart, Joe Stewart, S. Clement and Thomas Parish.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8th.—B. F. Sherwood, the well known stock broker, died at 5 o'clock last evening at his rooms in the Occidental hotel.

The whalers Rainbow and Mount Wollastah arrived in port yesterday from the Northern seas. The former brought 960 barrels of whale oil, 17,900 pounds of bone and 300 pounds of ivory; the latter 575 barrels of oil and 4,000 pounds of bone. The Wollastah reports having spoken the Java in Bristol Bay, October 12th, with 1,000 barrels of oil. She had lost her chief officer, F. B. Osborne, of Edgarton, Massachusetts, and Jacob Shepherd, a colored seaman, the boat which they were in having been smashed by the flukes of a vicious whale.

A dispatch from Seattle, W. T., to the Merchants' Exchange says that the ship Messenger, from San Francisco, arrived at Port Townsend and reports the total loss of the steamship Pacific on the 4th inst., forty miles South of Cape Flattery. Only one passenger was saved, who was rescued by the Messenger.

A young school girl, about eleven years old, was stopped on the street early this morning by a seedy looking old scoundrel, who tried to induce the child to go with him to his room. A young man named J. R. Clarke standing near suspected the stranger's intentions, and following him made him let the child go. The fellow took to his heels and as there was no policeman in sight made good his escape.

Judge Wright to-day rendered a decision that the case of Pasquale and Mary Loretto, charged with the murder of Giuseppe Galli, be resubmitted to the next Grand Jury. The defendants were released upon their own recognizance in the sum of $1,000.

The Clara Bell, which arrived yesterday from Honolulu, reports the disappearance of a cabin passenger named E. V. Thwing on the 3d inst. He was last seen on deck at 1:45 P. M. Whether he fell overboard accidentally or committed suicide is not known.

Late bullion shipments embrace $28,000 from the Consolidated Virginia mine, making $1,788,000 since the dividend; $2,900 from the Arizona mine on the 6th; $5,900 from the Leopard mine on the 7th, and $7,900 from the Northern Belle mine on the 4th. The Chollar-Potosi mine yielded 49 tons of ore last week, assaying $27 per ton.

About 12 o'clock Saturday night Summer C. Blake, a stationer on Montgomery street, was proceeding homeward up the California street hill when he was suddenly arrested by an anonymous letter in the formula, "You money or your life," the words being accompanied by the presentation of the muzzle of a pistol in close proximity to his nose. The gentleman responded by quickly handing over a small amount of cash he had upon his person, and the robber assisted him in divesting himself of his watch and chain. This ceremony having transpired, Mr. Blake was directed to continue his course straightway up the hill, turning neither to the right nor to the left, while the robber turned and fled in the opposite direction. Instead of following instructions, however, Mr. Blake followed the thief, in the meantime shouting lustily for "police." The alarm was successful in attracting the attention of an officer, who, seeing the fugitive before him had proceeded a hundred yards, he attempted to rid himself of the pistol and also of the watch taken from Mr. Blake, but was unsuccessful and all the evidence of his guilt was fastened upon him. The prisoner was brought before the Police Court this forenoon for examination, and his appearance answered that of the conventional highwayman. He was not recognized by the police as belonging to the brotherhood of old resident thieves, and is supposed to be one of the horde of criminals that have collected in this city during the past few weeks from the East. The weapon found in possession of the ruffian was a revolver of the largest pattern extant. He was committed for trial, with bail fixed at $10,000.

Heavy Earthquake. GONZALES, Cal., November 7th.—About 9:53 this morning there was a shock of earthquake that lasted three seconds.

HOLLISTER, November 7th.—The heaviest shock of earthquake ever felt in this vicinity visited us this morning at ten o'clock and lasted fully 20 seconds. It was preceded by a harsh, rumbling noise, and commenced very light, gradually increasing until it brought up with it a severe shock, and then as gradually decreased. The vibration was from East to West. Many of the inhabitants were frightened and rushed into the streets. Many clocks were stopped, goods shaken from the shelves in the stores and brick buildings cracked, although no severe damage was done. This is the second shock experienced here within the last three months, which was not felt at any other point on the coast.

Rev. T. M. Dawson is again in hot water. This time it is with the Presbytery of California, under the jurisdiction of which he preached before the matter of a severe shock, and set today for the time, but Dawson headed them off by getting out of their jurisdiction this morning so as to prevent that body from ventilating his conduct.

A man was knocked down with a sand club last evening on Sansome and Pacific streets and robbed of $100. He was badly hurt. No arrests.

On account of the death of B. F. Sherwood, in the meeting this morning, before the transaction of any business, the San Francisco Stock and Exchange Board adjourned till Wednesday at 11 A. M. No business was allowed to be done off the street by members of this Board during the interval of adjournment.

Chicago, November 8th.—At 1:15 this morning the wooden building of our gas works was destroyed by fire. By great exertions of the fire company and the hose of the water works the water works building and adjoining lumber yard was saved. A new brick building will take the place of the old wooden structure.

An alarm of fire was sounded to-day, but proved only to be a chimney burning. The fire company was promptly on hand.
